About Homewick

In April 2020, the pandemic changed my life. I was made redundant and unemployed for the first time since I was 16 years old. Candles have always been an interest of mine, so I wondered if I could turn my passion into a business. I did an incredible amount of research trying to figure out how candles were made. I discovered most candles bought on the high street and at luxury retailers are made from paraffin wax which is derived from petroleum, coal or shale oil. In a time when climate change is such a major concern, I was surprised that so many brands still use paraffin when there are much cleaner, sustainable options.

I began experimenting and found soy wax to have the longest burn time and held fragrances well. Beyond just wax, I tested many different types of containers, wicks and scents to try to get the right combination and recipe. I wanted to offer a unique experience to customers to be able to design their own products. To keep the quality and ability to customise, I decided to always make each product individually to ensure the perfect 'scent-sation'!

Homewick products are now found in many homes all around the world and I am proud to be building a business, in a challenging environment, in an industry that I enjoy. My vision is to create an experience that offers sustainable living and eco-friendly design, while giving you a way to relax in your home.

Thank you again for continuing to support my small business. I appreciate your custom and support.
